

The 10 Best Indian Restaurants In London

Sarine Arslanian

Updated: 9 February 2017

Amaya | Courtesy of MW Eat

Amaya

Amaya is a trend setter in the new wave of Indian gastronomy, building a reputation for being one of the best Indian fine-dining restaurants. In 2006, the restaurant was awarded the Michelin prize for the Best Restaurant and also the Best New Restaurant. It is also one of the few Indian restaurants to have received a Michelin star. Guests can ask for a table close to the open kitchen for a closer look at chefs at work on the clay tandoor.

Amaya, Halkin Arcade, Motcomb Street, London, United Kingdom, +44 \(0\) 20 7823 1166